Red German Youth Show Proves Flop

Threat to Drive
Allies From Berlin
Fails to Materialize

By WALTER RUDEL
Special to The Bulletin
BERLIN, May 29.—(UP)—Western officials believed today it was their determination to meet aggression with force which turned Sunday's nine-hour "March on Berlin" parade of 500,000 Communist youths into an uneventful flop.

The only clash reported was when two Communist youth delegates got into a street fight and blooded each other's noses. The Russians led at least 50 Germans by holding the rally in East Berlin. Western officials said 11 youth delegates, 23 East Zone policemen and 21 members of the crack "air unit" of the East Zone police army deserted to the West and sought asylum during the five-day rally.

Some 12,000 West Berlin police maintained an all-night vigil along their borders in the wake of the mammoth parade, alert for any parting shot by the hordes as they headed home. But none developed. Train, buses and trucks, jam-packed with youth delegates, began rolling out of the city last night for the trip back to their homes in the Soviet Zone of Germany.

Some delegates remained for scheduled sports and cultural activities today and a final torchlight parade tonight, but Western officials said they were not expected to see "BERLIN PARADE"

Rare Crane Whoops Last In Refuge

AUSTIN, Texas, May 29—(AP)—The first whooping crane ever born in captivity and one of only 28 in the world, had disappeared this morning and was presumed dead, Julian A. Howard, manager of the Arkansas National wildlife refuge, said today.

Rusty, a reddish-brown chick, was born in a salt marsh on the wildlife refuge last week and was first sighted by public bird scientists early Saturday.

He was the chick of Josephine and Crip, semi-captive cranes.

His hatching was a triumph for those who have striven for 15 years to preserve from extinction the colorful, graceful, whoopers.

Experts of the U.S. fish and wildlife service and the national audubon society had maintained a "maternity watch" since Joe and Crip began nesting April 22.

The bird scientists had used telescopes and field glasses 13 hours a day from a lower 300 yards away from the nest.

Howard had banned all visitors—except official ones—from the refuge since the whoopers' arrival. He was worried that the whoopers would be killed by the public.

Mr. W. J. Lawson, Judge Advocate General, told the defence committee of the commons he is not at all sure that the forces will be armed with "sufficient authority" to handle any fifth column in any new law.

"The subject was raised by Mr. J. G. Peck, B.C., Progressive Conservative member for Nanaimo, B.C., as the committee was dealing with the dealing with arrest and authority to consolidate and modernize military legislation.

General Peck said the prospect of a fifth column was something entirely new for Canada and he wanted assurance that the new code would provide for that contingency.

Brig. Lawson said: "We have that prominently in mind in drafting this act and I am satisfied that it gives sufficient authority."

—New powers. The clause in question would allow the provost to "seize" any person suspected of being about to commit an offence."

He said the clause was holding his head, which was bleeding. The other two were standing around him, one of them holding his head, which was bleeding.

More Forest Fires Spread In Canada

WINNIPEG, Man., May 29—(BUP)—Forest fires burned today in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and had forced 25 families out of one Saskatchewan village.

Saskatchewan forestry department officials said the worst blast was on a 100-mile front near the Saskatchewan-Manitoba border. They said it had burned five buildings in the village of Seward, Sask., and 25 families had been forced out of their homes there.

They said smoke hung over some 3600 square miles of shrub and timberland from a chain of fires stretching along the CNR track from Crooked River, 80 miles east of Prince Albert, to the Manitoba border.

In Manitoba, Provincial Forester J. G. Somers said 200 men were battling forest outbreaks in the Porcupine forest reserve and mid-western sections of the province.

Most serious of the Manitoba fires was located north of national mills in the Barrows district.

In NARIMITHES
The Maritime forest fire situation grew worse today while weekend rains delayed immediate action in most parts of Ontario and Quebec.

New Brunswick forest officials banned all forest travel as rising temperatures and onsets of rain and humidity nourished 15 fires which already have destroyed thousands of acres of valuable timberland that province and in Nova Scotia.

The worst of the fires—near Antigonish—New Brunswick's Gloucester County—destroyed 16 homes last week.

More OUTBREAKS
New outbreaks in the two Canadian provinces were feared as the weather bureau predicted temperatures in the 80s today.

In Northern Ontario a ban on bush travel has been lifted for Timiskaming and Algonquin Park as a result of heavy rain which Quebec all northern fires were out. Others burned along both shores of the St. Lawrence River, below Quebec.

More than 550 manufacturing concerns are located in Miami, Fla.

Business Outlook Bright For 1950

Canada Begins To Feel Importation Of U.K. Textiles

Competition from English textile exporters is starting to be felt in Canada but the business outlook for this year is "very bright."

This overall picture for Canada was presented here today by J. K. Johnston, president of the Imperial Bank of Canada.

Mr. Johnston, accompanied by Vice-President W. P. Walker, is paying his annual visit to western branches of the bank.

I see no signs of a recession or depression for Canada and no immediate future. Business will generally be on a par with last year although it may be slightly down. President Johnston said in a press interview.

Alberta Looks Good

He said great oil developments in the Edmonton area has made Alberta the "bright spot" in Canadian business picture.

The officials today conferred with W. P. McDonald, manager of the main branch here, and with managers of four remaining branches in the city.

They are also discussing final plans for the new main branch building here that will replace the building at Jasper Avenue and 100th Street.

Staff will move to a temporary building while being erected on the opposite side of the street in the new Imperial hotel extension area.

More Civil Servants

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—One out of every eight persons employed in the federal government is a government worker, a study by the National Industrial Conference Board indicates. This compares with only one to 23 workers in 1900.

Mr. Johnston noted that Imperial had the first bank in Edmonton opened on Sept. 4, 1900. On the way back from Pacific coast, the officials will leave for Saskatoon Wednesday night. They will be guests of Edmonton Imperial Bank staffs at dinner in Macdonald hotel tonight.

The visitors paid a courtesy call on Premier Ernest Manning today.

Food Poisoning Undulant Fever Cases Reported

Two cases of food poisoning, and one case of undulant fever, were reported today by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health.

The food poisoning could more properly be called "food infection," he said, since it was picked up by a baby and a three-year-old from their own home.

"It points up the fact that, with the advent of warmer weather, foodstuffs should not be kept very long unless they can be kept refrigerated."

The undulant fever case, second this year, was contracted by a woman who apparently had used unpasteurized cream.

Third of Wedding Rings Sold for Groom to Wear

By IVERS KELLY Bulletin Staff Writer

Lots of wedding rings—men's wedding rings—are being sold around Edmonton.

Jewellers say that over one-third of the wedding rings sold in Edmonton are for the groom to wear after marriage. The ring is usually a gift from the bride.

Couples agree that not nearly so many wedding rings for men reach the altar ceremony. Their estimate range from one wedding ring in 10 to one wedding in four.

Double ring ceremonies are a resurgence of a custom which was not uncommon here in the turn of the century among newly-settled European families who had brought the custom from their homelands.

The double ring ceremony is required at fewer than 10 per cent of the Jewish weddings in Edmonton. Rabbi Abraham Portine said.

Only about 10 per cent of the weddings at St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church are double ring ceremonies.

There's been an upsurge," said Rev. C. J. Farrow. "In the past it has been more popular among people of central European extraction."

Yellowhead Fight Goes On

The Timid Soul

By Webster

Robert Ruark

The northerly half of Alberta does fight to continue its fight for a major highway through the Yellowhead Pass to Kamloops because the development of this section and the area to the north of it demands such an all-weather road.

Pressure will be brought to bear upon the provincial government to appoint a fact-finding body to investigate all factors in the choice of a Trans-Canada Highway route across this province before a final decision is made on the Kicking Horse Pass route.

This demand, together with the Yellowhead supporters' denunciation of the government for yielding to British Columbia pressure in favor of the Kicking Horse route, which will be most profitable to B.C., is well justified.

But whether the Yellowhead highway is known as the Trans-Canada Highway or as something else is of small importance compared to the need for getting the Yellowhead highway built.

And even if the Yellowhead highway is not dignified by the name "Trans-Canada," it will be the Trans-Canada Highway in fact because of its superior tourist attractions and the greater ease with which it can be maintained and kept open in the winter season.

Ontario had this same difficulty over routes and that province found it necessary to build Trans-Canada number one and Trans-Canada number two out of Ontario to satisfy the transportation economy of all of Ontario.

Exactly the same situation obtains in Alberta.

A Yellowhead highway is of infinitely more importance than the Kicking Horse highway.

It will serve more people.

It will be of greater tourist and military value because it will link with the Alaska Highway.

It will cost about a third of what the Kicking Horse road will cost to build and maintain.

If Alberta's government has been so solicitous of British Columbia's feelings and British Columbia's pocketbook as to accede to British Columbia's demands for the Kicking Horse route, it should be equally solicitous of the needs of Northern Alberta and build the Yellowhead highway as well.

We don't care what it is called. But we do know it will be the one the vast majority of people will want to use.

And that is to enforce the law. If there is no bylaw prohibiting people from harboring messes in their private property and letting it blow out into public places, the city should make one.

And then they can enforce it.

New York, during the regime of Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia was a notably clean and tidy place.

It was made clean and tidy by constant police action.

Most clean cities have induced tidiness by and not by coaxing it.

Edmonton will be no exception.

The four-deck, symbol of pre-revolutionary France, is significant to a very large number of Canadian people and did play an important part in formative Canadian history.

It is, indeed, a vital part of Canadian history and, in our opinion, should be represented on the flag.

But the Union Jack was the banner under which Canada was conquered, under which Canada was extended, developed and matured to the point of achieving full and independent sovereignty.

Under the Union Jack, Canada came of age. And it is no more necessary for the Union Jack to be on the flag because cause she has reached a sovereign majority, than it would be for a young man to discard his father's family name just because he has reached the age of 21.

The Union Jack is one of the essential symbols in Canadian history. To repudiate it is to repudiate the history of our ancestors and all the past—a feat, which Omar Khayyam has pointed out, cannot be accomplished with all one's piety and all one's wit.

However, although British people have never been flag-worshippers, the flag is still the symbol of nationhood and, as such, is highly respected and has significance.

It is for this very reason that the Union Jack should be on the flag because it is one of the few parts of the past which we can still see.

As everyone and his Aunt Samantha knows, there's no business like show business, and the fortunate few who make the grade. But—

In 1946, a stage-struck lass from Nebraska named Judy Peters moved into a boarding house off Time Square and began looking for work in a summer stock company.

As per usual, she was paid average bribe, round of face, flattery and eye, and determined to make her mark on the 45th Street marquee.

A few months later, thanks to a stage manager who took a shine to her, she got her first part—a three-line role in a two-part play that lasted four performances.

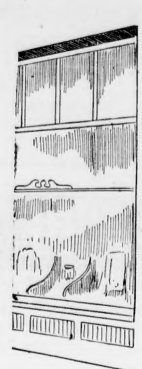

For a solid and sobering year that Judy made the rounds, eating the usual health salads and waiting on call to pay for her furnished, after a fashion, room. It was heart-a-sore-breaking work, but it finally paid off when the Big Chance came along—the second lead in a Shaw revival play.

All Over But Movie Contract

The day after the play opened out of town, Judy wired her folks they wouldn't have to help her any more, and when George Jack Nathan singled her out for mention in his review the farm girl figured it was all over but the movie offers.

One swell notion, however, doth not a star make, and when the play closed, Judy had to go back to reading the casting notices in Astor's Cyn.

But her family, fed up with her show

The Tide

Editor, Bulletin—

The foam, like flowers and like life, Drifts nearer, nearer still, Weathers round the rock at a swift pace, The winds, the winds, glorious tide, It enchants me, this glorious tide, As it drifts nearer still,

It seems the fairies like to ride On the wondrous, glorious tide, The grey rocks are hidden from view, As the tide comes nearer still, The tide goes, the beach looks new, Oh the wondrous, glorious tide!

—DOUGLAS SAUNDERS, Grade 7, Spruce Avenue School.

Radio

Editor, Bulletin—I notice the question of increased radio licence fees from $2.00 to $5 has been brought forward by Mr. Duntson, Chairman of the CBC Board of Governors, in the Commons last week. He said the services would have to be cut drastically if more revenue was not obtainable.

Today, there are only about 50 per cent of the people who own a radio, and they are left behind, and unable to get out of Russia for one reason or another.

Believe me folks, I'd certainly want to see this personally, before I would vote to increase something I know nothing about, and regret for the rest of my life.

I would like to see a law passed whereby Communism would be grounds for disqualification for a licence.

Punish Parents

Editor, Bulletin—I do not agree with the idea of people who side with the Communists and bad boys. They certainly do not require any kindness. The police have quite a job to look after criminals and ruffians at the present time, and they are doing their duty efficiently enough, but as most of the criminals are just youngsters, then the parents must be the ones at fault for not looking after their boys in a proper way and letting them grow up as hoodlums.

When a youngster turns into a criminal, he has got to be punished, not just with kindness, and there should be a law to punish parents who are so well for having such a bad boy.

Smiles

Fishing upstream from the little school in the town of Lethbridge, the schoolmaster came to the Sutton farm, and found Clem, his eldest son, sitting on a log, peeling large, fat-faceted rocks from the pasture turf with a crowbar.

The schoolmaster said, "Clem, there are seventeen rocks in that pile. If you were to peel one of them away, you would be a man." Clem began to scratch his head, the teacher said, "Figure it out, Clem. You can't peel more than one at a time, can you?"

Two hours later the schoolmaster returned and asked, "Well, Clem, how many rocks left?" Clem said, "None." "But now, doggone it, I've got to waste across the creek and fetch them back here. Pea wants to use 'em in the foundation for the new chicken coop."

"Don't you like the new car, Clem?" asked the mother. "Like it?" countered the little "Whee!"

"After all the trouble I went to learn how to start gears and move the outside gear, you can't do it!" Clem said, "You can't do it!"

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Bulletin—Should governments have the sale and use of cigarettes by individuals and reduce one-half of the cost of fire insurance?

Wherever a group of humans insurance rates be cut in half?

W. J. H.

Definition

Editor, Bulletin—Communism has many definitions, most of which are intentionally deceptive and confusing. Communism is slavery. Democracy is freedom.

Wherever a group of humans control other humans, Communism is established. All controls are Communist methods of enslaving the majority, for only slaves are ever controlled by other men and a free man is not, and never has been, taxed any of his property (money, goods or services) for the benefit of the majority.

Reports on all conditions such as religion, marriage, divorce, money, working days, days of rest, security, how much you are allowed to keep, how your family are raised, police protection, food, medical aid, and in short—everything, not forgetting entertainment.

I have talked with a lot of people in Russia, and not one would go back to that government. Instead they feel very sorry for relatives and friends who are left behind, and unable to get out of Russia for one reason or another.

Believe me folks, I'd certainly want to see this personally, before I would vote to increase something I know nothing about, and regret for the rest of my life.

I would like to see a law passed whereby Communism would be grounds for disqualification for a licence.

TODAY'S QUESTION—What do you think is the ideal summer temperature?

A. LEMMON, 1156-87 street, manitoba; Opinion on this question would vary a great deal according to one's occupation, but I would prefer temperatures ranging between 75 and 80 degrees above zero.

MRS. MARY WALLACE, 909-104 avenue, stenographer; About 80 above. I'm always cold. With winter as mild as it is I'd like to see the temperature around the 80 mark throughout the summer.

Application Of More Birch Suggested

I learned to shoot crap in Sunday school, which is neither a commentary on my lack of morality nor the efficiency of the Sunday school system. I got most of the other kids and I got in the schoolyard and I got most of the things kids do, generally on a shooting of me, pa, and God.

I have been young, and poor, and confused, but at no time did I have an unbearable year to run away with a cat over into the confederacy. I have also been old, and poor, and confused, but not shooting folks for fun never entered into the age, the poverty of the confusion.

My home town has roughly resembled a Warner Bros. approximation of Capone's Chicago lately, except the villains have been well-dressed, handsome kids, and, of course, killing each other casually for no real material or spiritual reason, unless you could say that they are bored with not killing each other.

Puzzle, Find The Reason

A highly famous kid named James Fortson recently got killed, for fun, by 16-year-old Tony Kearns, who was in the gang-belt that involved 30-odd members of two teen-aged gangs and evidently shoving the sticks and knives.

They could not, statistically, all be perched on the edge of the pool of average juvenile foolishness.

More Birch To Backside

I got just one small blanch that Billy Rose was being spared, lately, and too many children would.

You're wondering now, if the application of a little more birch to backside, during the formative years, would lessen the number of rapes and killings tomorrow.

It is a crime to bring a child of four years in a big city to an actual drawback, and baseball is still a better game than murder.

Graziana Gives Food For Thought

Marshall Graziana is the Italian general who fought on with Mussolini in Italy. King Victor Emmanuel II surrendered. The net effect of the sentence he received in the recent war crimes trial is that he will serve four more months in jail.

I noticed in Milan just a year ago that they were openly selling Graziana's book on the newsstands at the main corners. That book was equivalent to Hitler's Mein Kampf.

Another straw in the wind in Milan was that tourist guides, past drivers, had been strictly forbidden to show tourists the place where Mussolini and his mistress were hung, feet up.

The official explanation was that the Italian government did not want that place made a shrine.

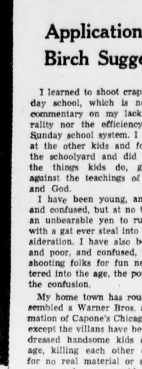

How Would It Go Today?

It is a light-hearted, happy cartoon by the Italian artist, Graziana, who is a German general who would be sentenced to death if the war crimes had been postponed five years?

I asked myself in Italy, "What would Hitler do if he had many of those German generals would be sentenced to death if the war crimes had been postponed five years?"

Those boys and girls would have been sentenced to death if they had the chance, and it paid them to do so.

... but thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is he weary.

He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength.

Quiet Gathering Marks Quintuplets' Birthday

GALLANDER, Ont., May 29.—(CP)—The 10th birthday of the Dionne quintuplets was marked yesterday by the quietest family celebration since the famous five were born.

Only guests present were Rev. E. Savoy of Ottawa, a family friend, Lillian Barker of New York, a writer and frequent visitor, and three to four children with whom the quintuplets go to school.

A highlight of the celebration at a family dinner last night was presentation of 16 American beauty roses to the quintuplets.

Dunkerque Story Lives Again In Latest Book

LONDON, May 29.—(Reuters)—Just ten years ago there took place the "Miracle of Dunkerque"—the evacuation of more than 33,000 British and French soldiers across the English Channel when Hitler swept through the Low Countries and France.

The story has been brought to life again by two men who were in it—Lt. Col. Ewan Butler and Maj. J. Selby Bradford, authors of the newly published "Keep the Memory Green."

50 years of the need to keep prepared.

Lacking in equipment, the British army found strength, however, in a good spirit and worthy leadership.

Vicount Gort, commander-in-chief, set an example among his officers for austerity living. Only once, says the book, did he feel his officers really needed a drink—the day the Belgian army capitulated after weeks of furious fighting.

"Belgians given up, French fallen back on our right. Had—had, I think we'd all better have a glass of champagne."

One pound of dirt is said to contain 40,000,000 germs, the smallest of which is 25-thousandth inch in diameter.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Jolly, white-haired Lauritz Melchior and his vivacious blonde "Kleinchen" (little one) celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last night with champagne, caviar and a cake. And they offered this advice for marital success:

"Understand each other's problems."

JACOBY ON Canasta

By OSWALD JACOBY

"It was criticized the other night," laments a New Orleans reader, "for failing to make a base. I didn't take back because I wouldn't have known a base if I fell over one. What was it, really, that I failed to make? Also, was this clever or was it a prize bonus?"

A base is four or more natural cards in a single meld. You must have a base to make a canasta. It must be at least four natural cards in a single meld. You must have a base to make a canasta. It must be at least four natural cards in a single meld. You must have a base to make a canasta. It must be at least four natural cards in a single meld.

It is usually a good idea to make one at a fairly early stage of the play. It is sometimes good policy to make two different bases. However, it is not wise to try for several bases unless you have picked up a large discard pile.

REASONING SIMPLE

The reasoning is very simple and direct. At the beginning of a hand you usually can't tell which card is going to win control of the deal. If the opponents do, the card you should make a canasta and meld out in a hand. It is easier to do that if you have a base. Hence, you try to get a base fairly early as a sort of insurance policy against a bad dealing.

Two bases are quite enough for this purpose. If you try to make too many bases you won't have enough cards left in your hand to put up a good fight. It is like spending your entire income on insurance — too much of a good thing.

GOOD TO DELAY

It is sometimes a good idea to postpone making your base for a while. For example, suppose your partner makes the initial meld. You can add a card or two to one of his melds. Once in a while you should deliberately not add.

DRAMATIC FUROR on the stage, "Anna Lucasta," stars lovely Paulette Goddard in the title role of the film based on the world-wide stage hit. "Anna Lucasta" opens today at Rialto Theatre.

Anna Lucasta' Film Opens Monday at Rialto

The long-awaited movie version of the world-acclaimed stage hit, "Anna Lucasta," opens today at the Rialto Theatre.

Paulette Goddard is starred in the title role as the celebrated pianist who made theatrical fame while Broderick Crawford, William Bishop, John Ireland and Oscar Homolka are co-starred with her.

The story of "Anna Lucasta" concerns the fortunes of the Lucas family, a poverty-stricken family in a Pennsylvania steel town.

Paulette Goddard, the wayward daughter, has been married to a man, bringing with him $40,000 in cash.

She had only one semblance of a complaint to make: Laurence sings in the shower. But loud.

"However, I don't mind," she confessed.

Two Electrocuted By Power Line

FABRINO, O., May 28 — (AP) — James A. Ryan, 31, father of four small children, tried to erect his own television aerial Friday. It cost him his life as well as his own.

He had the aerial on a pole. He tried to raise the pole to slip one end into brackets he had fastened to the house. The aerial hit a 12,000 volt power line. The shock killed Ryan.

His wife, Lois, 26, ran from the house toward him. She stumbled against a fence on which the aerial fell. She too was electrocuted.

Not All Hollywood Actors Playboys

Wilcoxon Checks Roster Of Actors Who Stay Wed

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive To The Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, May 28 — (UP) — Actor Henry Wilcoxon, bored with the Hayworth-Bergman-Gardner headlines, suggested yesterday all the big-name stars who've flung onto their wives for 10 years oughta get together and start a "same old girl" club.

It's high time Hollywood husbands did something about this stalling wife-switching reputation they've got, he says.

That belongs to the hot-blooded boys on the fringe—not the solid citizens who only need one woman to keep up their ego.

And if you've been drooling over the recent amorist antics from Rome and Paris and Spain, Wilcoxon's list of "stay-married spouses" will hand you quite a jolt.

They're not tired old has-beens. Gents like Dana Andrews, Bill Boyd, Charles Boyer, Ronald Colman, Gary Cooper, Fred MacMur-ray, Ray Milland, Robert Young and Walter Pidgeon all fall into the 10-to-30-years-married department.

And if 20-year anniversaries don't convince you, Wilcoxon can go farther.

"Cecil B. DeMille will be celebrating his 50th wedding anniversary," he says.

Look at Joe E. Brown, Jean Har-sholt and Otto Kruger, he says.

They've had the same old gals for going on 40 years.

HERE'S MORE

And how about the 20-to-30 class? Plenty of big names in there, too: Fred Allen, Jack Benny, James Cagney, Charles Laughton, Fred-erick March, George Murphy, Edward G. Robinson and Spencer Tracy. Not a has-been in the bunch.

Stack this list of married movie stars up against the playboys who flit from bride to bride. Wilcoxon says, and it's the playboys who get the short end of the deal.

Englishman Leaps From Ocean Liner

MONTREAL, May 28 — (CP) — A 33-year-old Englishman leaped overboard from the passenger liner Anania Thursday as the ship was entering the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It was learned Friday.

The man, whose name Liverpool May 18, reached Montreal late last night.

Officials would not immediately identify the man, who is believed have been drinking. He is reported to have been melancholy throughout the voyage, brooding about a girl he left behind when the ship sailed.

Thief Captured By Storekeeper

TORONTO, May 28 — (CP) — Thomas Clements, 45, storekeeper, gave chase Saturday when two men robbed his till. He captured one with a flying tackle three blocks from the store.

Police arrested Roy Schrum, of Vancouver, on a theft charge. The other man escaped with $10.

More Spy Arrests Predicted

Canadian and U.S. Nationals Claimed To Be Involved

LONDON, May 29 (CP)—Two London newspapers claim further arrests, including at least one Canadian and several Americans, will result from a current questioning of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, convicted British atomic spy.

The predictions, made yesterday by the Sunday Reynolds News and the Sunday Express, were not confirmed officially.

The Empire News said that for the last 10 days Fuchs had been "identifying suspect after suspect from films of thousands of people flown secretly and under cover from America."

"Fresh arrests in the war on atom spies in America and Canada," the paper continued, "are certain to follow information he has been giving day by day."

Reynolds News said "more than a dozen atomic scientists, government officials and businessmen are likely to be arrested in the biggest international roundup ever known and charged with passing top secret information to Russia. They include a Briton, at least one Canadian and six Americans."

QUESTIONED BY FBI

Fuchs is serving a 14-year sentence for funneling atomic secrets to Russia. Two United States Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have been questioning him for the last 10 days. Since the questioning began, one man already has been arrested in the United States. He is Harry Gold, Philadelphia research chemist. The FBI said Gold had admitted passing dealings with Fuchs, once one of Britain's top theoretical atomic scientists.

Another London newspaper, the Daily Graphic, said that Fuchs will be asked to submit to lie-detector tests on his reliability as an informer on Russia's espionage net.

SEEK PERMISSION

The Graphic said the lie detector already has been taken to Wormwood Scrubs prison, where Fuchs is confined. The FBI men have asked permission to use it, if Fuchs agrees, the newspaper said.

The Graphic added: "It is understood Fuchs hopes for a remission of his 14-year jail term as a reward for the evidence he has provided, but no promise of any kind has been made to him. He believes from four to seven years may be slashed from his sentence."

At Ottawa, Commissioner S. T. Wood of the RCMP declined to comment on the London report that at least one Canadian will be arrested as a result of current questioning of Dr. Fuchs.

"I'm sorry but I can't make any comment on the report," said Commissioner Wood.

ACTH, Cortisone Caution Required

Wonder Drugs Could Be Killers Unless MDs Skilled

By Haydon Leonard

MONTREAL, May 28.—(BUP)—The so-called wonder drugs, ACTH and Cortisone, could become killers in the hands of inexperienced doctors, Montreal research Dr. Hans Selye said Saturday.

Selye, professor of experimental medicine and surgery at Montreal University, said there was too much tendency to appeal to the government for ACTH and Cortisone and to "shoot them into patients" indiscriminately.

Some doctors failed to find the cause of a patient's illness and adopted an attitude of "let's give them some ACTH anyhow," he said, a practice which was "definitely dangerous."

Selye said there was a vital need for specialists in the ACTH and Cortisone field. Patients suffering from any of the "stress" diseases, such as arthritis, should be able to go to top-qualified men, just as they now go to heart or cancer specialists.

TRAINING NEEDED

These ACTH men would have to be trained by North American universities.

ACTH and Cortisone had opened a new era in medicine and a new group of specialists was needed, Selye said.

He called a special press conference at his university quarters to announce publication of a 1,000-page book on "stress" diseases. The ACTH expert said he had written it to meet an urgent need in medicine. It was the fulfillment of his five years of work on the hormone against their harmful effect, he said, and he said he hoped it would allow doctors throughout the world to make a better approach to the new Cortisone field of medicine.

DIFFERENCE EXPLAINED

Selye explained that the body puts up a natural resistance to the stress of fear, rage, frustration, intoxication, the damaging influx of microbes or even the tantalizing influence of a bad boy.

The adrenal gland ejects Cortisone to fight this stress, he said, while the injection of ACTH merely helps in the fight.

But the professor said he had proved there were not only health-giving Cortisone-called glucocorticoids—ejected by the gland, but also an ejection which in most cases was harmful. They were called mineralo-corticoids.

Selye said he now was experimenting to see if he could develop a serum which would immunize patients against the mineralo-corticoids, thrown out of the adrenal gland under the influence of ACTH.

If he could do that, he said, it would be possible to use the mineralo-corticoids only on the few diseases against which they seemed to provide a wonder cure. Other wise, patients would be immunized against their harmful effect, he said.

WALLS COME TUMBLIN' DOWN IN ENGLAND

LEYTON, Essex, England, May 28.—(Reuters)—The three Tilly brothers of Leyton got family permission to use the back wall as a playground and while away the winter evenings building their dream boat.

Month by month, the craft—a 18-foot blue-and-cream sailing skiff—took shape.

But when launching day came, the brothers found they had forgotten one thing. The skiff would not move through the door or the window.

Now they are knocking down part of the parlor wall.

Teen Group Plans Crime

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 28.—(AP)—Five high school boys and girls arrested Saturday—three on suspicion of murder, two on suspicion of robbery—said they are members of a club which planned crimes after studying magazine and radio crimes.

Held in the brutal hold-up slaying of the owner of a liquor store May 12 are Thomas Charles Cook, 17; Marcell (Poodle) Dwyer, 17; and Peggy Dwyer, 15.

Shirley Armitage, 16, and Larry Collins, 16, both eighth-graders, are accused of robbing a Compton liquor store Friday night. Collins said he implicated the others.

Collins said he and the others studied radio and magazine crimes. "We'd pick flaws so we could avoid them and remember the smart things so we could copy them."

A simple way to keep good and silver evening slippers from tarnishing is to keep them well wrapped in your old nylon between wearings.

Can Opener Field Saturated Among Congo Usumburans

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

Exclusive to The Bulletin

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(UP)—Before many weeks there will be more can openers than there are white folks in the thriving little town of Usumbura in the Belgian Congo.

It's like this. Not long ago the United Press cobled a piece to the dark continent about a new American invention—a can opener.

It was a super-duper number patented by the Rival Manufacturing Company of Kansas City, Mo. It was called a "Can-Op-Mat." It opened the can and, caught the top on a magnet at the same time. It not only opened the can, but it also cleaned it. It was a small, hand-held device, which holds the can in place. From there on, it's easy to raise the can and get the sardine grease off it.

Well, the good ladies of Usumbura took a fancy to the story and apparently got together and mailed no order.

ALL THIS COLLECT That posed a problem for the Rival people.

No money came with the order and they had to go collect. The openers sell in the U.S. from $4.98 to $7.95.

But in order to deliver the goods, the company is going to have to get about $15 to $22 apiece for the things, including shipping charges.

Anyhow, the things are on the way.

And they'll get to the Congo like this.

First they will travel aboard a steamer from New York to a port on the east coast of Tanganyika. Then they go by slow train across that country to a lake on its western border where the railroad runs into a dead end. From there they go a couple of hundred miles up the lake to their destination.

Asia Nations Talk Economy

BAGUIO, P.I., May 28.—(UP)—The committee of the whole of the conference of seven southeast Asia nations discussed today a subcommittee plan for economic cooperation among the nations' 600,000,000 persons.

The committee plans to prepare resolutions on this and other subcommittee projects for presentation to the final plenary session tomorrow.

At the conference headed into its final hours, delegates carefully avoided political issues, emphasizing that they are not "against anybody."

The conference failed to form a permanent organization, as asked by the Philippines, which called the conference.

It was understood that India does not favor a permanent organization, Indonesia and the Philippines also were reported cool to the proposal.

Spy Suspect Sorry Person

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—(AP)—Harry Gold, 39-year-old American chemist held on a charge of wartime espionage, now says he must have been insane to help betray his country's atomic bomb secrets to Russia, the Sunday Bulletin said yesterday in a newspaper story.

The Bulletin said Gold, held in jail under $100,000 bail, represents himself as fully penitent.

Accused of being the "contact man" for the convicted British scientist, Dr. Klaus Fuchs, Gold says, reported the Bulletin, that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents questioning him daily in his cell are getting all the help he can give in their efforts to track down others of the Soviet atomic spy ring.

Old Friends Welcome Mr. (Murder) Mills on Return to Camrose

MR. MILLS feeds chickens on farm with Miss Chris Potter, occupant Will Reynolds' niece.

OLD-TIMER of Camrose, Pete Dechenau remembered Mills as "Little Adolphie."

WITH OLD school chum Dick Kubernus, Mills "cuts up" in visit to old farm. Fond of children, he gave students ice cream cones.

MAYOR BOB HUME was pleased to receive Mills' offer to return July 6 to help charity show designed to assist paying for new swimming pool.

CHAT WITH brother, Toefeld Milledahl, was visit highlight. Brother is mechanic in Camrose. Al is second youngest in family of six.

on the TOWN...

Sounds That Linger

Sounds that speak an eloquent language: Most cheerful sounds: Grand symphony of chirps and twitters from the birds early on a summer morn. The uniquely genuine laugh of a little child. Music of a mountain brook. Sad little sounds: Sigh of the wind in the tree tops. The hoof of a taxi horn at your front door when some loved one is departing on a long journey. Plaintive cry of a seagull winging across a greying sky.

Most soothing sounds: Distant tinkle of a cow bell. Train whistling in the distance. Gentle patter of rain on the roof.

Most exasperating sounds: Water dripping from a faulty faucet. Cats holding a nocturnal petting party on the back fence.

Sounds that both thrill and terrify: Fire and ambulance sirens. The roar of crackling flames. Swoosh of a low-flying jet plane. The crash and peal of thunder.

Here and There

Lawyer, sportsman Joe Shooter looked very much like the family man yesterday with five laughing young folk in his station wagon. "No, they're not my youngsters. I'm just stuck with 'em," said Joe.

His Honor Judge Joseph Melson of the district court is the "walking" judge in town. His Honor hasn't driven a car for 10 years.

The income tax people have ruled you don't have to pay taxes on racing bets providing you're a "casual" bettor.

That gets me thinking: If you can keep all your "casual" winnings what about your "casual" losses? Maybe Mr. Gordon Northfield will get a return something like this next time we have to file those yearly forms. To support of Lollypup II, $50 on the nose; For partial support of tout Joe Blow: $325.00; How would you rule on that Mr. Northfield?

A very goodnight to all and especially to people who have "casual" winnings at race tracks.

Camrose Greet Mills As Successful Citizen

By Dick Beddows
Bulletin Staff Writer

CAMROSE, May 20 — The man who has made the most money wrestling in North America, who's known anywhere on the globe—in the last few years is not Whipper Billy Watson or Gorgeous George, but Al (Mr. Murder) Mills of Camrose.

And let anyone make the mistake that he is not in the chip. Mr. Mills takes pains night and day to demonstrate the fact.

LONG JALOPY
He bought himself a long, low jalopy, for example, in which he rolls up and down the highway hood taking in the atmosphere.

The other day he rolled into Camrose to plant a few doubts among the acenes of his boyhood and out of some touches in the old hometown.

For Mills came out of the Camrose area 22 years ago, to become a wrestling entertainer. In the process, he big (6-foot-10, 245 pounds). Mr. Murder sailed away a few bucks, which, as you can plainly see, has been easy since he claims to gross $100,000 a year.

Things weren't always so good for the claimant to the British Empire heavyweight grippling title. When he left Camrose in 1938 he was a hungry young man with patches on his pants.

Al was born Adolph Milledahl one week November day 23 years ago, the fifth son in a family of six boys and five girls. His parents came to Canada in 1912, migrating to Camrose from Spokane, Washington. They were of Russian-German stock, big, land-loving people with tremendous faith in a farming future near the town of Alberta.

Papa Milledahl worked his 320 acres as best he could, beat with the harness of the horse, tractor. He could have used a lot of those dollars his illustrious son was later to earn.

LARGE FAMILY
But his family grew and grew. And by the time young Adolph was 10, the family was a wagon wheel. The Milledahl family was still striving to get the wherewithal to purchase more land.

They never did.

The kids left school and left home until finally Al and his younger brother Henry, who was called "Trey" for the factious reason that he was almost seven feet high, were left holding the fort with their father and mother.

Summers they'd work the land and play baseball. In the winters Al and his brother labored in Camrose doing odd jobs, helping the drayman, hauling coal, parking cars. And then one night in 1938, Al, who could fix a bike as easily as anyone in the municipality, got his first taste of wrestling. This black-haired young husky didn't knock a toe-horn from a headlock but he was as strong as a short-horn bull and twice as nasty when aroused.

He lost some matches in Camrose, one of them in one round, but he was as strong as a short-horn bull and twice as nasty when aroused.

He lost some matches in Camrose, one of them in one round, but he was as strong as a short-horn bull and twice as nasty when aroused.

Taylor took fighting farmer under his wing after that, and farming it with the power machine. Adolph Milledahl was seen to cry when Papa Milledahl never became Al Mills. In six months.

Fifth Company Seeking Rights For Gas Export

Montreal Investment Dealer Confers Over Two Proposals

Plans for two proposed pipelines, linking Alberta gas and oil fields with British Columbia markets, will be announced early this week.

Lloyd H. Champion, Montreal investment dealer who is promoting the project, arrived in Edmonton Saturday to confer with government officials.

Mr. Champion refused comment when asked if an oil pipeline might be used for some time at the government's extraction plant at Athabasca.

Operation of the plant was suspended several months ago when a survey of market possibilities of the extracted oil is conducted.

Mr. Champion's proposal to build pipelines from Alberta petroleum fields to the coast of British Columbia will be subject to a public hearing.

Like other proposed natural gas and oil export companies, his firm will be subject to obtain export permits and licenses from the provincial government.

To date, no permits have been issued to any of the five companies.

Indian Medicine Man Was Native Doctor

Before white men came to Canada, the Indian lived a quiet life in their own way. Many of their customs have changed during the past decades, but they still have many traditions and customs that are still part of their life.

The Indian had a special talent for healing. They used herbs and roots to cure many diseases. They also used special medicines that were made from the bark of the cedar tree. These medicines were very effective and were used by many people.

The Indian medicine man was a very important person in the community. He was responsible for the health of the people and for the well-being of the tribe. He was also a teacher and a leader. He passed on his knowledge to the younger generation and helped them to learn the ways of their ancestors.

Although the Indian medicine man was a native doctor, he was also a healer. He used his knowledge and his skills to help people who were sick and in pain. He was a true healer and a true doctor.

Uncle Wiggly's Bedtime Story

As you heard in Saturday's mud! asked Hilda, the cat, who appeared in the sky just after nap pulled down as no one would Uncle Wiggly and the others had seen his eyes and begin laughing at pulled the circus wagons out of the wrong time.

The mud was indeed a wind cloud. "If we did that, we'd have to and if the wind was strong, pull it out again," Sammie said. "I'm sure there was no doubt but that it would blow the circus wagons over, and perhaps break."

"Wait! Uncle Wiggly exclaimed. "I have an idea!" He turned to the children while it was stuck. "I'm thinking you're the manager of the circus, and you're better if we had let the wagons stay very big and very heavy, in the mud. The wind couldn't pull them out of the mud, and you'd have them over there."

"That's true," admitted Uncle. "Sit down in the mud! Why, yes, Wiggly, that was a good idea. Pull it out again," Sammie said. "I'm sure there was no doubt but that it would blow the circus wagons over, and perhaps break."

Scientist Says Russians May Reach Moon First

By J. J. Moehan
Exclusive To The Bulletin
LONDON, May 26—(UP)—Arthur C. Clarke, British scientist who hopes to rocket around the moon in about 20 years, said yesterday the Russians may beat him to it.

CHARLIE HART OUTRUNS TEAM
TWINNENHAM, Surrey, England, May 26—(AP)—Charlie Hart, 36-year-old athlete, today made his annual run from Windsor to Twickenham, covering the 25-mile route in four hours and beating a stage coach drawn by four grey horses.

WITHIN DECADE
Although Clarke is betting that no Western man will be able to fly around the moon for 20 years, he believes rockets carrying radio may get there in 10. It's simply a matter of increasing the speed of missiles from the present 5,000 miles an hour to the 25,000 miles an hour needed for a rocket to tear away from the earth's gravity, he said.

About the time piloted rockets reach the moon, Clarke said, men will be roaming into space away from the earth's gravity. Short cruises into space should be rather routine in 10 years, he said. "Space flight now is just about where flying was 50 years ago," he said, "and there are a lot of secret experiments these days that we don't know anything about."

Navy Prepares To Test Anti-Submarine Patrols

HALIFAX, N.S. May 26—(BUT)—Halifax went fanfully back to its wartime role as a secrecy-shrouded "east coast port" today while the navy prepared to test the mettle of its anti-submarine patrols.

The navy chose tomorrow as a peacetime D-Day, with the "V" standing for defense against the Royal Navy submarine Asuke which supposedly represented a contemporary wolf pack.

The Asuke, borrowed from Britain because Canada's navy does not include submarines, will seek to prove its aptitudes by blasting the imaginary convoys off Canada's east coast.

WILL CONTENT
To do so the Asuke will have to contend with eight very real warships and several more home-carrying, carrier-based fighter planes in a one-day operation designed to show how well Canada's sub-hunting, convoy-guarding navy could account for itself if it became necessary.

Eight defending ships involved will include the carrier Magnificent, complete with the latest in naval planes; the destroyers Huron and Monck; frigates La Hulloise, St. Stephens and Swains, and mine-sweepers New Island and Portage.

An indication of how much stress Canada laid in the manoeuvre came in a defense department announcement saying who would watch.

TOP-RANKING OFFICERS
Last included top-ranking Canadian and United States navy officers, deputy defense minister (Lieut. C. M. Hurry, and Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the defense research board, which developed some of the still-secret weapons that will be used.

The names of some of the western powers' key commanders included members of the Canadian-United States permanent defense board Vice-Admiral Harold Grant, chief of H.M. naval staff, Solandt and Hurry.

The Magnificent has been theoretically sunk a half dozen times during previous manoeuvres carried out under the similarly watertight

Paratrooper Makes 54 Jumps, Attempt Fails

CLAYTON, N.C. May 26—(UP)—A rugged army paratrooper hit the silk here 54 times in less than 12 hours yesterday and then "passed out" in his plane before he could continue his attempt to break a world jumping record.

Police officer Herbert Ingram said the stoic paratrooper, stationed at nearby Fort Bragg with the 82nd Airborne Division, was so groggy at the end that he couldn't even remember making his last five jumps.
